NOTES FOR DDCI

1. A decision was made last weekend to change Maxwell Taylor's travel plans. Originally, he was to visit Pakistan in November as a follow-up to Ball's recent mission. The plan now is for him to make a round-the-world trip in December, stopping in Karachi after a visit to New Delhi.

warning about the possibility of terrorist outbreaks there in conjunction with the [redacted] independence day celebrations.
The Department is thoroughly informed and is braced but ^{it} is not at all certain just what the nature of US contingency plans will be.

4. At your request I have checked with [redacted] about the Agency's sending a man to NMCC. [redacted] says that this will not prejudice the position being worked on in response to the SecDef letter about NMCC. There is a practical problem involved, however: the representative assigned to NMCC should be equally familiar with DD/P and DD/I needs. At the moment, DD/I is running with the ball all by itself. Once again, we are faced with the problem of finding a rare bird who can represent all sides of our house.
